

Privacy Policy

PP-001 v1.2 · Last updated 2026-06-13 · Effective since 2026-06-03 · privacy@gage.industries

PLAIN-ENGLISH SUMMARY

Trove holds your working record — conversations, plans, notes — and we treat that seriously. We collect only what we need to run the product, we never sell your data, and we never train AI models on it — ours or anyone else's. You can export every bit of it anytime. Deleted means deleted: trash clears after 30 days, and hard-deleted data ages out of backups within 14 days. If anything below is unclear, write us at privacy@gage.industries.

1 · Who we are

Gage Industries LLC ("Gage Industries", "we", "us") is a Washington limited liability company headquartered in Seattle, Washington. This policy covers our website at gage.industries and our product Trove — a Claude-powered planner — together with any related services we provide (the "Services"). It is governed by Washington law.

Our mailing address — 522 W Riverside Ave #7934, Spokane, WA 99201 — is our registered agent and mail-forwarding box, used for legal notices and correspondence only; it is not an office. For the purposes of applicable data-protection laws, Gage Industries is the "data controller" of information collected through the Services.

2 · Information we collect

2.1 What you give us

Account information. Name and email address; your password is stored only as a hash.

Billing information. Handled by Stripe. Payment card numbers never touch our systems.

Your Trove record — the content the product exists to hold:

- chat conversations and messages;

- planner records — tasks, jobs, assets, log entries, notes, metrics, and recurring obligations;

- AI memory entries — everything Trove remembers about you, visible, editable, and deletable at /memory;

- morning briefs.